

Many partners of assistance dogs cannot afford to buy a second seat. Shipping the dog is not a good option since it deprives the partner of the dog and the work the dog performs during the flight. Shipping is also not available during very cold or very hot months when unheated/un-air conditioned cargo holds would be deadly. Waiting for a different flight is a game of chance and makes keeping to a travel schedule impossible.

Thank you,
Rufus Wesley